

SEPTEMBER 11, 2003

STATEMENT OF U.S. REPRESENTATIVE SCHAKOWSKY ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF 9-11 TERRORIST ATTACKS

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Two years after the deadly attacks of September 11, 2001, we remember those who perished as our nation came under attack. To the fallen heroes who lost their lives while saving others, we are forever grateful, and to the families of the victims who struggle every day to cope with their loss, the grieving continues.

We in Congress are struggling to make our nation more secure, and to provide fire fighters, police officers, first responders and military personals with the resources they need to keep us safe here at home and across the world.

□ On this day, we remember the past and hope for a peaceful future.
